

LESSONS FROM A GODLY KING

- 1. True greatness begins with the fear of the Lord.
Our primary concern should always be the will of God and the glory of God.

2. The purposes of God will always prevail in the end over the plans of men. Trust God, as David did, to work out His plans in His way.

3. We should never offer to God that which costs us nothing. Worship is what we give, not what we keep.

4. As worshippers of God it's quite in order to express the full range of human emotions.

5. We don't know the truth until we have heard from God, so don't let the voice of man drown out the voice of God.

6. The most important thing in the world is to obey God's call and live under His anointing.

DAVID THE FALLEN MONARCH TEACHES US THAT:

- 1. The world, the flesh and the devil will always have plans for idle, undisciplined disciples.

2. Success, prosperity, power and popularity have latent power to destroy your witness and damn your soul.

3. One sin will quickly incubate others if it remains unchecked.

4. God will not condemn His children, but He certainly will convict them and chastise them in order to restore them.

5. God's discipline will always be tempered by His mercy, kindness and unfailing love.
